Thank you for choosing CuddleCo. Rattan is a natural material which will have colour variation as it grows, this is part of the beauty of rattan and should not be considered a fault. As the furniture ages it may darken, especially when exposed to sunlight. There may be small cracks present in the outer layers of the rattan furniture when received; these are formed when the rattan is shaped. Due to the inherent strength of the rattan canes these will not cause the item to break. Do not position the rattan next to heat sources such as radiators.
