KRISTEN BELL

Balance out cool, pale complexions with pink-based foundations, like alabaster or porcelain. For cheeks, try a soft rose blush or sheer beige bronzer. A classic bright red lipstick is the finishing touch.

CHRISSY TEIGEN

When it comes to your base, look for formulas with yellow undertones to help brighten skin. Follow up with muted hues, like deep mauve and golden bronze, to add a subtle, fresh-faced glow.

LUPITA NYONG'O

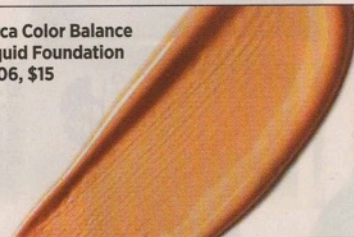

Ebony tones radiate in warm, rich pigments, usually labeled chestnut or mocha. Vibrant tangerines, brick reds and fuchsias pop against dark skin, while warm chocolate bronzer adds major dimension.
