10 Foundations That Make Women of Color a Priority

FEBRUARY 28, 2018

Buying a foundation that suits the skin is hard. For women of color, it is a lot harder! If you are one of the millions of women who, after spending hours scouring Sephora, Ulta or any other store for the right foundation, still come home empty-handed, I know exactly how you feel.

For years, this has been the case for me, and I know a lot of women out there are going through the same thing. I waited expectantly for my favorite brands to come out with foundation shades that suit women of color but the wait has been extended and frustrating.
