Lemongrass House Canada offers fragrant option for wedding reception favours, showers and other celebrations

Vancouver, B.C. – Lemongrass House Canada, a highly popular global brand offering consumers the ability to experience quality spa products at home, is also in demand with brides, grooms and wedding planners. Those looking for unique, quality items for wedding receptions, bridal showers or other celebrations are drawn to their all-natural and handmade spa and personal care products to use as small gifts.

A Thailand-based artisan, who approaches their work with love and pride, makes each Lemongrass House product. The blenders sign each label and the products are packaged by hand. The exotic and floral fragrances of the products appeal to a wide range of discerning consumers around the world – and are a natural fit for celebrations of love.

Said Maxine Druker, co-founder of Lemongrass House Canada: “We have a range of products that symbolize love – from our heart-shaped soap to Aromatic Room & Pillow Sprays. We have had several wedding planners and brides come in, searching for unique gifts for wedding favours and for gifts for bridesmaids, mothers of the bride and groom and others.” She added: “Interestingly enough, we have also had purchases of some fun items too – like our all-natural dog shampoo and our great toning face masks – for wedding-related gifts.”

The Lemongrass House brand has just become available for purchase in Canada – at their retail shop at 209 Abbott Street in Vancouver and online at LemongrassHouseCanada.com. Along with retail stores in 17 countries around the world, Lemongrass House products are being used in some of the world’s top hotels and spas. In addition, they also offer brides and grooms the ability to do their own branded wedding labels and specially bundle packages to give to guests. These are customized to reflect the style of the happy couple and their wedding reception décor. This has proven quite popular with those looking to create personalized wedding favours.
