

Reading List suitable for 10 - 11-year-olds

This list is only a quide and a starting point.

There are lots of ways to find new and exciting books for your children to read:

1

Go and browse in bookshops and libraries. Your children can look at the cover, look at the blurb and have a look inside to see if it is going to be the right book for them. Ask the librarians or shop assistants for recommendations.

2

Speak to other parents and children. Many of the books on this list have been recommended by pupils in the school.

3

Speak to teachers. If you are still struggling to find books that will suit your child then speak to the teachers.

4

Use the internet. There are lots of websites that have suggestions for young readers. One website which is particularly helpful is www.whonextguide.com. This website allows you to type in the name of an author and then it gives you suggestions about what you can read next.

This list has not included any poetry or non-fiction.

It is not hard to find age-appropriate poetry in shops and libraries. Look for an anthology that appeals to your child. Nonsense poems and funny poems can often be a good place to start.

In terms of non-fiction it is often good to start with newspapers, like First News. Children can also look for magazines and books about topics that interest them. There are good reference sections in bookshops and libraries.
