THE DMC WATCH COLLECTION

Meet the brand new DeLorean Motor Company timepiece collection inspired by the iconic car.

The first DeLorean DMC-12 rolled off the assembly line in 1981 and although it only enjoyed a very short production run until 1983, this unique automobile gained both legendary status and a cult following. Featuring a distinct shape, stainless steel body, and gull-wing doors, there is nothing quite like the DeLorean DMC-12 car.

Though the original Belfast-based John DeLorean's DMC operation closed its doors in the 1980s, the legend lives on thanks to Stephen Wynne's vision. Today's DMC operates out of Humble, Texas. Not only does DMC house the largest inventory of DeLorean DMC-12 parts in the world, it also sells refurbished DMC-12 vehicles. The company is also working on making a brand new DeLorean car.

Our DMC watch collection is a nod to the original DMC-12 sports car. From the horizontal lines on the dial mimicking the front grills of the DeLorean to the stainless steel case body, the tribute is unmistakable. There's also the winding crown shaped like a tire and the famous DMC logo prominently displayed.

The speedometer-like dial features a sporty red seconds hand, stylish hour and minute hands, in addition to the expanded date window at 3 o'clock. Plus, on the case back of the watch is an engraving of the DeLorean in its most famous position — with the gull-wing doors wide open.

For ultimate accuracy and practicality, under the hood of the DMC timepiece is a high-quality quartz Miyota movement. Powering the both time and date functions, the battery-operated watch will continue to run whether on or off your wrist. With a generous battery life, the DMC watch only requires a pit stop for a battery change every three years.

Completing the look of the DMC watch collection is the black leather strap accented with gray stitching — reminiscent of the black and gray leather interior of the DeLorean car.

There are three different versions of the DMC watch to suit a wide range of tastes. There's the sleek black DMC watch, the vibrant blue DMC watch, and finally, the fresh white DMC watch. Together, this trio of timepieces makes up the inaugural DMC watch collection.

A watch made not just for DeLorean enthusiasts but for those who appreciate iconic design and automobile history, the DMC watch is one that drives it in its own lane.
