

The idea of the traditional seating is to honour the couple's parents. Both parents will be sitting at the head table together with best man and the matron or maid of honour.