BIO KEY-NETIC OILS®

the connection between science and energy.
vibration and consciousness

“If you wish to find the secrets of the Universe, think in terms of energy, frequency and vibration”

NIKOLA TESLA

(physicist and inventor)

'BIO KEY-NETIC OILS'

'BIO KEY-NETIC OILS' have been created through the knowledge of many connections and strong bonds found between nature and technology.

This includes the bonds between science and energy, the relationship between vibration and consciousness, as well as between light and sound. These connections are harnessed to create perfect harmonious oils that help to achieve a blissful state of physical and emotional wellbeing.

These unique oils provide maximum effect at the beginning of a massage, and then towards the end of a massage when applied on specific areas and points on the body. The information from the oils is then transferred through various energetic pathways of the body, and travels to the places in need of healing. The results are immediate and greatly beneficial and the recipient experiences deep comfort and relaxation.

The 'language' of these oils is the language of light, sound, pulsation, frequency and vibration of energy.

THE COMPONENTS OF 'BIO KEY-NETIC OILS'

SOE Essential Vibrations Remedies:

SOE remedies are a holistic, natural and safe way of creating emotional healing and focus on restoring the balance between mind and body. These remedies help to unlock positive emotions and eliminate negative feelings. Through entering energetic pathways, they increase the flow of Qi and restore perfect balance.

Frequency of Sound:

Inspired by the philosophy and knowledge of Nikola Tesla (physicist and inventor), SOE developed a unique technology to 'program' the products to specific sound frequencies (wavelengths) which help to restore the body's natural vibration.

Frequency of Light:

'BIO KEY-NETIC OILS' are infused with the frequency of different light waves. Light consists of chemical and emotional elements as it emits heat, electricity and magnetism. Today, there is enough scientific evidence to show how we respond emotionally and psychologically to colours. Through advanced technology at SOE we are able to 'imprint' the information of different light waves into the oils.

Essential Oils:

Essential Oils enter the body in 3 ways; applied to the skin, via ingestion or through inhalation. Our skin is semi-permeable, so the active chemicals in essential oils are absorbed through the skin where they then move into the bloodstream and travel to where they are needed most. Essential oils also have a strong influence on our emotional well-being.

Carrier Oils:

The carrier oils of each 'BIO KEY-NETIC OIL' are carefully selected, and play a major role in imparting the benefits of all the components to the body via the skin, where they move into the bloodstream and energetic pathways.

'BIO KEY-NETIC OILS' and Qi

Qi is the basis of all life and is the natural energy of all living organisms, including the human body. It can be thought of as life force or energy flow. Qi circulates throughout the body via energy pathways, or meridians. When Qi flows freely and is balanced throughout the body, a state of wellness is achieved physically as well as mentally and emotionally. However, when the Qi flows slowly, it results in pain as well as disease, sickness or even unwanted life circumstances.

What is influencing the flow of Qi

Emotions are an indicator of human thoughts. Negative emotions decrease the speed of Qi and consequently atoms move or vibrate at an unhealthy or irregular speed, which impacts the physical body as well as our life circumstances.

Every atom of our body constantly sends out frequencies to the 'quantum field' and attracts accordingly the same frequencies back. These oils change the frequencies, so you are set up to receive more beneficial information back from the quantum field which results in a perfect balance.

When to use 'BIO KEY-NETIC OILS'

A massage naturally enhances the flow of Qi. However, with the incorporation of 'BIO KEY-NETIC OILS', specific energy pathways are used to restore a balanced flow of Qi. This will allow the person to achieve more satisfying results physically, emotionally and energetically.

How to use 'BIO KEY-NETIC OILS'

Different 'BIO KEY-NETIC OILS' are designed to be applied to different parts of the body. 'Energy' and 'Relief' 'BIO KEY-NETIC OILS' are purposefully designed to be applied onto areas on the back of the body, while the 'Women's Balance' and 'Comfort' must be applied to areas on the front of the body.

When to apply Energy and Relief oils during the massage

If you start your client's massage on the back of the body, and you have chosen to use 'Energy' or 'Relief' oils, first apply the 'Energy' or 'Relief' oil to the areas described in the application description and then continue your massage as usual.

If you prefer to begin your massage on the front of the body and you are using an oil which must be applied on the back of the body, apply the oil to the body as described in the application description after the client turns over and is facing down.

When to apply Women's Balance or Comfort oils during the massage

If you start the massage with the client face up, first apply the 'Women's Balance' or 'Comfort' oil to the areas described in the application description and then continue your massage as usual.

If you prefer to begin the massage on the back of the body and you are using an oil which must be applied on the front of the body, apply the oil to the body as described in the application description after the client turns over and is facing up.

PLEASE NOTE:

To achieve the best results we recommend you to use our 'BIO KEY-NETIC' massage carrier oils. If you would like to use your own carrier oil, please make sure it's pure and free of any other ingredients.
