

Table of Contents

Introduction

Chapter 1: Starting Your Grant Application Process

- Determine Your Project's Impact
- Qualifying For A NIH Grant
- Conclusion

Chapter 2: Get Reviewers Engaged In Your Application

- Formulating Your Project Summary
- Project Summary Examples
- Keep Your Project Narrative Brief
- Use Your Biosketch To Maximize Reviewer Confidence
- Biographical Sketch Form
- Crafting Successful Letters Of Support
- Conclusion

Chapter 3: Highlight Your Institution's Research Environment

- Detail Your Facilities And Other Resources
- List Your Available Equipment
- Resource Sharing Requirements
- Conclusion

Chapter 4: Developing Your Research Strategy

- Language Is Important
- Nail Down Your Specific Aims
- Research Strategy Road Map
- Overall Impact Brings Everything Together
- Conclusion

Chapter 5: Special Considerations

- Vertebrate Animal Test Subjects
- Human Subjects Research
- "Select Agents" Reviewer Notification
- Conclusion

- Chapter 6: Budgeting Your Research
 - Strategy For Planning Your Budget
 - Which Budget Type Is For You?
 - Preparing A Successful Detailed Budget
 - Conclusion

- Chapter 7: Completing Your Application
 - Make These Final Checks
 - Include All Necessary Components
 - Creating A Cover Letter
 - Videos: Non-Tradition Application Materials
 - Assignment Request Form Completion
 - Review Your Proposal For Content
 - Review Your Proposal For Writing Quality
 - Submitting Your Application
 - Should You Withdraw Your Application?
 - Conclusion

- Chapter 8: The NIH Application Review Process
 - NIH Review Process: A Brief Overview
 - NIH Application Review Process
 - Your Application Gets An NIH ID Number
 - Your Application Gets Assigned For Review
 - Basic Layout Of Initial Peer Review
 - How Reviewers Score Your Application
 - Summary Statements
 - Second Level Review: Advisory Council Or Board
 - When You Can Expect To Hear Back
 - Just-In-Time Information
 - Resubmission (A1)
 - Conclusion

- Appendix A: R01 Checklist