CONTEMPORARY GLASS TILES

This thoroughly modern collection of glass tiles is characterised by the clean, crisp lines of a machine cut edge and the luminous way colour filters through the material. It's a look that was first inspired by two of David Hockney's California paintings from the 1960s—'A Bigger Splash' and 'Man in Shower in Beverly Hills'—with their colour palettes and architectural motifs serving as initial reference points. From there we became enthralled with the grid-like compositions of the modernist bathrooms of the 1980s and 1990s and the endless possibilities glass tiles could create.

There are 25 colours available to choose from, in both gloss and matte options. The colour is sprayed on one side to a uniform finish for consistency across batches. The translucency of the glass gives each piece a depth, which balances the flatness of shape and solidness of colour. Use one finish entirely or mix and match gloss and matte tiles to create subtle tonal variations.

Within this catalogue you will find 10 sizes on offer across three shapes: squares, rectangles and a single triangle. Note, the mosaic and liner tiles are only available in gloss due to their small size. Please see suitability recommendations below. As glass tiles will be slippery on floors, we only recommend using the mosaic for this application as the abundance of grout will help with grip.

LEAD TIMES

Glass tiles are made to order, with a lead time of 8–12 weeks depending on your order size. Custom colours and sizes are available and will add additional time to your order.
