

Does My Child Need the Brain-Connected Reading™ ePackage?

Meaningful, productive learning is impossible for your child if they cannot read fluently, with comprehension, at grade level.

Subscribe to Brain-Connected Reading today if your child (check all that apply):

Avoids Reading

- doesn't read for pleasure.
- stalls, diverts your attention, or complains that reading assignments are too long.
- would rather listen to a story than read it.

Has Poor Reading Habits

- loses their place, rereads or skips lines.
- reads slowly, in a monotone voice.
- ignores periods and other punctuation marks.
- skips or guesses at difficult words rather than sounding them out.
- doesn't stop to fix their mistakes.
- still slowly sounds out difficult words.
- sounds choppy, not smooth, while reading aloud.
- doesn't read at an appropriate word-per-minute rate for their grade level (see the attached Quick-Test for Brain-Connected Reading).
- makes spelling errors in written assignments.

Has Brain Glitches

- often asks others to repeat things.
- can recall little of what they've read (poor comprehension).
- has trouble following four-to-five-step directions.
- has difficulty maintaining their attention.
- has difficulty recalling jokes and stories.
- frequently needs to reread material.

Keep in Mind: Begin today. A child with these problems is behind, will not catch up without your devoted help, and is far more likely to drop out of school later.
