The Alivio™ Advantage

Our triple encapsulated Glutathione is uniquely capable of serving the body's challenges and then replacing itself. GSH functions as a tool for the body's defense of both acute and chronic health challenges. As we age we produce less GSH than we did when we were young and healthy. For optimal health and well-being, many medical and scientific sources are touting benefits of raising and maintaining glutathione levels in the body, especially starting at age 20. With the added Whole Plant Hemp CBD's, the possibilities for relief can be endless.

Our Organically Grown Alivio Whole Plant Hemp oil is legal to buy in all 50 states via the 2014 Farm Bill under our authorized grower as our Hemp concentrate contains less than .3% THC. U.S. Federal law permits us to ship straight to your door. Our 260mg Whole Hemp Plant NRGZ Pain Cream has no detectable THC.

Alivio Products Inc. works with the largest organic practices hemp farm in the U.S. which grows and harvests the whole plant, then extracts the cannabidiol – CBD – using a pure CO<sub>2</sub> process. We then send our tremendously high quality 260mg Whole Plant Hemp to an independent, State approved laboratory in Colorado. This 3rd party testing ensures that our mg potency, CBD levels, exact THC level, and microbiological testing is true and accurate.

Important Questions and Answers

Will this Alivio™ 260mg Whole Plant Hemp Extract NRGZ Pain Cream get me high? Quick Answer: NO, No THC (psychoactive)

Are Hemp CBD and Marijuana CBD any different? Quick Answer: NO, CBD is CBD

What is the difference between Whole Plant Hemp CBD and Hemp Seed Oil? Quick Answer: The primary difference is the amount of CBD that each contains. Hemp Seed oil, although rich in omega acids, contains very low levels of CBD (typically less than .0025% or 25 parts per million or none at all), while CBD oil can range anywhere from 2% (20,000 ppm) to 99.9% (999,900 ppm) CBD depending on product, purity and source. This is an extremely important distinction.

Will CBD's absorb through the skin? Quick Answer: Yes, as the skin is the largest organ, transdermal application is an exceptional way to deliver CBD to those aches and pains but Glutathione as well.

The Body's Endocannabinoid System (ECS):

Because of its crucial role in homeostasis, the ECS is widespread throughout the animal kingdom. It evolved a long time ago, and the ECS can be found in all vertebrate species.

The three key components of the ECS are:

- Cannabinoid receptors found on the surface of cells
- Endocannabinoids, small molecules that activate cannabinoid receptors
- Metabolic enzymes that break down endocannabinoids after they are used
