

Gathered Fan Swag

22" Depth

This swag design has three pleats at the bottom. The top portion is gathered to create a fan shape. The top and bottom pieces are cut separately and then sewn together. This allows you to use contrasting fabrics, if you like. The seam that joins them will not show. The swag widths extend 32" to 54". The swag depth is 22". The tail is needed when more than one swag is used, side by side. It finishes 14" in the middle.

The jabot hangs 45" deep, it is cut on an upward curve and cannot be altered. It is 5" wide across the board line. The front edge of the jabot flips over, exposing the lining.

Fabric Suggestions: The pleated bottom of the swag can be cut bias, upright, or lengthwise. Bias is recommended. Depending on the fabric width, seams may be necessary for a bias or an upright cut. The swag top must be cut upright or lengthwise. If your fabric requires seams in the swag top, they are not a problem because they will be hidden in the gathers. The jabot and tail must have self or contrast lining. The swag can have a regular drapery lining.

Soft fabrics always work best for swags, but crisp ones can also work for this swag. Avoid thick bulky fabrics. Horizontal and vertical stripes work well for the top of the swag, but stripes for the swag bottom do not work well. Stripes are not recommended for the jabot and tail.

Trims: Cord and other small trims that can be sewn into the seam are a good choice for this treatment. Fringes need to be able to curve. Shallow or deep fringe is wonderful for the swag and jabot. Deep fringe does not work as well for the tail.

YARDAGE

If your fabric is at least 56" wide you can cut a 54" swag bottom on the bias, without seams. More narrow fabrics will require seams.
