

Adrenal & Focus Blend

Adrenal System Balance Support

The adrenal glands, located on top of the kidneys, are the center of our stress response. Sustained stress affects the adrenal glands and overall endocrine system balance, the immune system, and the cardiovascular system, physical, mental and emotional fatigue, raw nerves and anxiousness, and negatively affecting our health.

Getting plenty of sleep, eating nutritious foods, exercising regularly, and engaging in relaxation activities are very important to adrenal system support. In addition, adaptogenic herbs (which help the body adapt to stress) and nervine herbs (which soothe the nerves) support the adrenals, giving us what our bodies need to get through our busy lives.

Adrenal & Focus Blend is a natural herbal formula that supports the adrenal glands, soothes the nervous system, and helps restore balance to the endocrine system. The herbs used in Adrenal & Focus Blend provide necessary plant source minerals and vitamins that are adrenal sustaining and balancing, help balance and build the nervous system, support memory and mental focus.*
