Note 1: This recipe begins with an initial volume of 5 gallons of wort in the primary fermenter, but due to the massive amount of finishing hops added, you can expect to finish with less than 5 gallons of finished beer.

Note 2: The total boil time is 60 minutes. This recipe uses three different hop additions. Please refer to the boxes on the next page for the hop addition schedule.

Note 3: Because of the downright insane quantity of hops used in this recipe and the corresponding risk of fermentation foam-over, we recommend using a blow-off tube during the primary fermentation.

Note 4: At the end of the 60 minute boil, add the hops to your brew kettle shown in the Whirlpool Hops table below. Let stand for 30 minutes.

Note 5: After approximately 7 days of primary fermentation, siphon the beer to a 5 gallon secondary and add the Dry Hop addition listed in the table below. Allow the hops to rest for 7 more days before bottling or kegging.

Liquid Yeast Activation Before Brewing:

If you are fermenting with liquid yeast, you must activate the yeast packet before it is ready to pitch. Always check the manufacturing date stamped on the yeast packet. Yeast that is less than 1 month old may be activated on brew day. A yeast that is more than 2 months old may require additional preparation time. Always make sure your yeast has been properly activated before using. Please see www.boomchugalug.com/wyeast.htm for complete liquid yeast activation instructions.

Well, that was easier than making a shoe stink! My brew buddy had a problem, though. Okay, perhaps he drank a few too many home brews during the afternoon. Go figure! But here's the conundrum: now that he's seeing double, he claims we just brewed a ten gallon batch!
