Sustainability Score Factors

ADVANCED
MANAGEMENT STEWARDSHIP

Field-level stewardship based on crop production agronomic activities

ADVANCED
SOIL & NUTRIENT LOSS MITIGATION

Degree that inherent risks of soil and nutrient loss are adequately addressed

ADVANCED
CONSERVATION ADOPTION

Adoption of on-farm activities that protect and enhance natural resources

Truterra, LLC ("Truterra") has developed the Truterra™ sustainability tool ("Sustainability Tool") to assist farmers, their land-owners, landlords, lenders, farm/land management organizations and retailers in understanding the current state of the farmer's farming operations with respect to various sustainability metrics. This report(s) was generated by the Sustainability Tool and includes scores, graphs, analytics, projections and other predictive statements and other insights (collectively "Scores"). Truterra owns this report and the Scores, which are Truterra's confidential information licensed to the Sustainability Tool licensee for limited use and disclosure. Without limiting the terms of any separate agreement between Truterra and the Sustainability Tool licensee, no recipient or viewer of this report is permitted to (i) use this report or the Scores except to assist the farmer to which this report relates, (ii) extract or copy the Scores, in whole or in part, from this report, or (iii) use this report or any Scores, or disclose this report or any Scores, for marketing or otherwise commercializing any sustainability claims or credits, including without limitation sustainability attributes of the grain harvested by farmer(s), greenhouse gas emissions, carbon dioxide or nitrous oxide removal, reduction or sequestration, greenhouse gas accounting/reporting or other commercialization. Unauthorized use, disclosure, reproduction, modification, display, distribution or other misuse or violation may result in civil and criminal penalties. All copies of this report must include this disclaimer.

The Scores represent Truterra's assumptions and expectations in light of currently available information.
