DESIGN COLLABORATIONS

We have worked with wool and alpaca for three generations, from the raw fibre to the finished product. We have always focused on good, raw material, knowledgeable processing, and high quality.

Managing the heritage is about persistently insisting that a product from Silkeborg Uldspinderi is based on expert knowledge of fibres and processing as well as close and lasting relationship with producers and subcontractors.

The development as we advance is about making craftsmanship and design equal components in product development. This means letting the two parts go hand in hand and lift each other and the company. Ten years ago, we initiated a collaboration with textile designer, Tina Ratzer. This collaboration opened new doors for us, and there is no doubt that additional collaborations are the way forward.

That is why we have invited other dedicated designers on board – all of whom hold experience and knowledge about textiles, as well as a deep respect for the material. We are pleased that Tina Ratzer, Karin Carlander, Margrethe Odgaard, and the design duo Stilleben, each have contributed with their designs and views on textures, materials, and colours to Silkeborg Uldspinderi's collection.

Stilleben was founded in 2002 by Ditte Reckweg and Jelena Schou Nordentoft with a passion for high-quality design, craftsmanship and peculiar objects. The design duo primarily works with interior design and product design. They specialize in creating unique and timeless objects that combine functional design with artistic aesthetics. Their work encompasses a range of disciplines, including furniture design, lighting, textiles, ceramics, and glassware.

Stilleben's design philosophy is rooted in a timeless aesthetic. Their designs and production focus on high quality materials and skilled craftsmanship, resulting in long lasting products.

Combining craftsmanship, quality, and sustainable production processes are the goal.

Stilleben is the designer behind The Sweater Collection and The Polychrome Collection, which has been a huge success. The current collection includes throws and cushions, available in a variety of colours.

MARGRETHE ODGAARD

After graduating from the Royal Danish Academy of Fine Arts in 2005, Margrethe worked as a textile designer in Philadelphia and later in Paris before setting up a design studio in Copenhagen in 2013.

Margrethe has managed to work herself into an award-winning Danish designer driven by a stubborn and persistent exploration of colours.

As a designer, Margrethe Odgaard strives to create simplicity and purity in her design. Anything unnecessary is removed, and the colours are allowed to speak their own language. The Franja throw is a bold result of the journey towards a more refined and focused approach to design.

For Margrethe Odgaard, Franja is more than just a throw. It is an artwork rooted in her childhood on Thyholm. Her deep connection to the place and the good, wholesome values she acquired there have inspired her in the collaboration with Silkeborg Uldspinderi and to create the Franja throw.

ABOUT FRANJA

With a blend of 50% alpaca and 50% wool, the Franja throw is crafted to impress. The soft and comfortable surface of wool and alpaca gives the throw a special feeling of luxury.

The colours in the Franja throw are not chosen randomly. They are carefully selected to create an emotional resonance. Margrethe Odgaard's work focuses on the influence of colours on people, senses, and emotions. The textiles act as a canvas that allows the colours to unfold their impact. The colours establish connections and awaken the senses. From light calm shades to deep dark hues, each colour tone has its own unique effect and meaning.

The Franja throw stands out from other designs by placing the fringes on the sides of the blanket instead of at the bottom and top, creating an alternative and intriguing aesthetic. At the same time, Franja's special two-coloured design offers the possibility to choose which side and colour to display while keeping the other side hidden. This versatility provides the freedom to customize the throw according to one's desires and preferences.

The Franja throw is now available in six colour combinations: Green/Blue, Green/Orange, Green/Black, Pink/Brown, Pink/Yellow, and Pink/White.

WOOL

Wool is a unique, natural fibre with endless possibilities.

For three generations we have worked with wool, from the finest, lightest, against both heat and cold. Wool is naturally dirt repellent and have antibacterial capacities. Wool is not just wool. The sheep, the fibres and the processing have a significant impact on the final product, whether it is a throw or a cushion.

The production process from raw wool to the final product requires careful handling - with respect for the origins of the wool and the sheep the wool comes from.

ABOUT SECRET

Introducing the latest addition to the collection, the Secret throw.

As the name suggests, this throw holds a small and delightful secret with a different colour on each side. The Secret throw creates a simple and elegant ambiance with the possibility of multiple expressions, thanks to its two-tone design. The fringes follow the colours, adding a delicate contrast, while the diagonal weaving on one side gives the throw a unique and flexible design.

Woven from 100% worsted wool, the Secret throw is soft and comfortable surface but also incredibly warm. The wool is gently woven together to create a unique density and durability, ensuring that the throw can be enjoyed for many years to come.

Secret is the first throw to be launched in 100% certified RWS wool.

Secret is launched in the colour combinations:
Moss/Seaweed, Granite/Black, Beetroot/Rhubarb, Ocean/Ink, and Ocher/Caramel.

SCANDINAVIAN WOOL

We have created a collection of beautiful throws in the special grey wool from the Gotland fur sheep and the brown wool from other Scandinavian sheep. The shades on the colour card in this collection of natural throws are a reflection of Nature. Each design reflects the grey and brown shades that come with the raw material.

The collection is characterised by simple, traditional designs from the same regions as the sheep. With their softness and warmth, the throws correspond perfectly to the Scandinavian climate.

Naturally, Silkeborg Uldspinderi has dedicated this collection to Scandinavia.

ALPACA & WOOL

Wool and alpaca each have their own unique properties and we have chosen to combine them in several soft and warm products. Wool and alpaca insulate against both heat and cold. Wool fibres provide volume and airiness, whilst the alpaca's long, smooth fibres provide extraordinary softness and lightness.

At Silkeborg Uldspinderi we have chosen to unite these two qualities in a number of wool and alpaca designs that combine the best of both worlds. The result is a quality, which is lighter than that found in pure wool, but which is, at the same time, more voluminous and airier, than our pure alpaca series. Light, soft throws with an attractive appearance and lots of warmth.

ALPACA

We have a soft spot for the alpaca.

The alpaca lives on the world's roof in the Andes, where it adapts to temperatures fluctuating from -20 degrees Celsius to +30 degrees Celsius in less than 24 hours. The alpaca's fantastic fur insulates against both heat and cold. We have gently transferred this unique capacity to our products together with two other special characteristics of the alpaca fibres: softness and flexibility.

Baby Alpaca and Premium Alpaca are used for our most luxurious throws, which are both soft and lightweight, yet warm.
