Dover

When Austyn joined the team, we immediately started working on a colourway for him to skate in. Austyn was drawn to the Dover because of its simplicity, durability and overall comfort. After adjusting the shoe to have a lower profile, internal padding for protection and additional holes for breathability, we can proudly say we have rebuilt a classic silhouette to be a highly functional skate shoe.

Better for Skateboarding.
Better for the Planet.

Skate function and durability continue to drive the design process of our footwear as we source more sustainable materials to lessen our impact on the environment. Through partnerships with companies such as Bloom®, Wolverine Leathers® and Waste2wear®, we have introduced more eco-friendly alternatives that have proven to be steps in the right direction. Our continual mission of making the most sustainable skate shoe ever rolls on. Better for skateboarding. Better for the planet.

Wolverine leathers®

We continue our relationship with Wolverine leathers, using their most durable pig nubuck. Pigs are much more environmentally friendly than cows, using less natural resources to raise, and producing less methane gas.

P-C Lasting Boards

A shoe's lasting board is a sheet of material that connects the shoe's upper with its sole. Beginning from this season, all our lasting boards will be made from certified 100% post consumer polyester, to reduce our use of virgin materials.

Upcycled Rubber

We take what would normally be throw away scraps from the factory floor and recycle them into usable outsoles. This process prevents rubber from ending up in our landfills and is better for our environment.

Organic Cotton

Cotton grown with organic agriculture methods uses fewer pesticides than conventional cotton, and therefore reduces exposure to toxic chemicals that can end up in the ground, air, water and our food chain.
