How to Care for Your Helium Balloons

FLOAT TIME:

Latex: Our 11" Balloon Bar Solid Balloons are all treated with Hi Float which will give the balloons a minimum of 2 days float time. Confetti-filled 11" balloons cannot be treated with Hi Float and will have a float time of approximately 6 hours.

Foil/Mylar Balloons: Foil and Mylar Balloons have a minimum 2 days float time, but if treated well, can last up to 10 days or more.

HELIUM BALLOON CARE

Helium is very sensitive to extreme weather conditions. Avoid extreme cold or hot temperatures. Balloons may burst if left in direct sunlight or in heated areas. Cold temperatures will affect the float time of the balloon.

Latex balloons will go through a process called "oxidation," in which they develop a velvety or chalky appearance. This process can be slowed if kept away from direct sunlight, however all latex balloons will oxidize over time.

Balloons are very delicate!
Keep balloons away from sharp objects, rough surfaces or high winds.

Our Balloon Bundles are currently for pick up ONLY.

Please Note: We are not responsible for any bursting balloons once they have left the shop!
