

GloLens Wide Angle Illuminating Lens

When I think about just how far photography has come since I was a kid – I am amazed! I can't wait to see where the world of photography takes us.

When my great-grandparents were younger – there were very few photos. It wasn't something you could just take any time you want. Then my parents lived in the age of 110 cameras and polaroid cameras. Polaroids were far too expensive to use more than on a rare occasion and 110 cameras were okay but the quality was also okay. Even my oldest two children started out with their own Disney 110 cameras. Of course their 110's even had memory cards in them so they were sort of a ramped up version.

Nowadays though people have cameras with them all the time. Sure there are DSLRs, pocket 35mm digital cameras etc... but everyone has a cell phone now (almost everyone) with a camera. We have cameras with us all the time – and not just adults, even kids. It is just what the world has become. My kids are no different. When my oldest three were teenagers smartphones were such a novelty I was able to not get them one – heck we didn't even have one.

Also, selfies have gone from being a rare event to some people taking selfies every single day. As a blogger I need to take selfies often. However, the cell phones do not have a light or a flash on the side of the camera to take selfies. This problem is solved with the GloLens!

GloLens is by JustFashionit and it is a wide angle illuminating cellphone lens. This lens makes taking selfies that are gorgeous – easy. The light has 3 settings to enhance selfies.

This GloLens includes a carrying case and USB charging cable to recharge the light. It also fits most smartphones and tablets. The 12 LED bulbs enhance every scene. Choose rose gold, gold or silver. When combined with the U Speaker as a remote control for your phone, the GloLens makes your remote selfie the best ever!
