Q&A WITH MAGGIE TAMO

Who is Club Four20 for?

I want Club Four20 to be a household brand in the medicinal and recreational cannabis communities. It includes people of all walks of life interested in cannabis; they live life to the fullest, they don't take things too seriously, are bold and curious, compassionate and are constantly pushing themselves. They are a mixture of users who are turning to cannabis for medical reasons or recreationally; they range from experienced and knowledgeable to novice. Club Four20 is a community to help you stay informed and a place to purchase high quality products.

What do you think differentiates Club Four20's products from others out there?

Our customers deserve the best in the industry and high quality products. We partnered with Grenco Science, Pypstek and Levo to put together all encompassing kits, to manufacturing high quality products which range from grinders to airtight canisters. We've put a lot of thought into what makes a kit complete, everything you need from the beginning to the end, all that's missing is weed.

Do you have any cool cannabis projects we should look out in the future?

I've always wanted to do cannabis parties - you know like tupperware parties, except with cannabis and accessories. The goal is on-site education, promotion and fun. So possibly look out for those parties coming to a house near you!
