

LEVERAGE MID ROW

Elevate your upper body workouts with the Sorinex Leverage Mid Row machine. Crafted in the USA using robust 11 gauge steel, this machine builds on to a classic piece of equipment with modern improvements. This row machine features our patented 4-way hole design, enabling you to add weight pins for plate storage or band pegs for an added resistance option. Premium Naugahyde with Double-Stitching make for a durable and built to last upholstery. The adjustable, knurled metal handles provide multiple fixed and free moving grip options during your most intense pull sessions. The unilateral design with fixed vertical support handle gives you multiple movement options. The adjustable start blocks give you options to limit range of motion or choose a varied start position when adapting this machine for injured or return to play athletes. Choose from a variety of custom colors to suit your style.
