Our Tactical Applications Group™ has established strong positive relationships through years of streamlined communication with U.S. Military units and Government agencies at all levels of service. Through these collaborative relationships we know that the equipment is only a tool to drive the success of a Human Performance program. We have a team of personnel with direct experience building, managing and developing successful HP programs for mission or task-specific requirements. Our passion is to provide the Government with the solutions they deserve.

Sorinex Tactical Applications Group™ is one of the top direct manufacturers of Tactical Lockers for the U.S. Department of Defense (DoD). Manufacturing hundreds of lockers since 2013, we have achieved a 100-percent customer acceptance rate. All lockers have arrived defect-free and installed as required. Our free standing, totally-configurable framing system is not limited to a set framing that encircles the container. Our solution allows the lockers to be set up in a wider range of locations with a broader training capability than other manufacturers on the market.
