FIBRA DE SANSEVIERIA

The artisans of Taller Maya in Campeche have turned sansevieria into the raw material for their craftsmanship. Once the leaves are harvested, the artisans proceed to defiber them, ironing and scraping them, and then passing them through a bleaching machine before letting them dry in the sun for two to three hours. Subsequently, they dye the fibers by simmering them in a basin for an entire day. This ensures that the dye, made with natural extracts from local vegetation, is applied uniformly, minimizing the risk of color bleeding during the drying process. Finally, they spin the dyed fibers using a rotating machine and then cork the thread.

BEING A NATURAL MATERIAL, ITS COLORS MAY VARY.
