BERRYKLE ENZYMATIC ORGANIC SOFT DRINK

Food › Food › Beverages/Liquor

Super premium beverage.

We produce a completely different value from existing health beverages with the devotion of our 1-year fermentation process of 80 types of organic crops. For instance, the KOMBUCHA goes through either 1 or 2-week fermenting process but has been so popular in Japan for almost 40 years. However, it is not recommendable to pregnant women or children for caffeine.

Berrykle is only one beverage processed with 80 types of ingredients through traditional Korean blending method that offers a taste and aroma that do not follow the trends.

No more hesitation.

We produce healthy, caffeine-free, sugar-free and non-GMO carbonated beverages containing 80 types of crops organically cultivated and traditionally fermented for at least 1 year in jars through our unique style.

The quality and technology of our products have been organically certified as the first case by KOREAN Ministry of Agriculture, Food and Rural Affairs (MAFRA KOREA) as a soft drink.

Devotion and patience of 2 years.

When spring comes, flowers bloom and fruits are yielded with the help of honey bees and being poured into clean glass bottles right after fermented and matured in 1,000 jars Natural fermenting process of 80 ingredients. During the 1-year fermenting and maturing process inside the jar, the sugars are all decomposed into glucose and fructose and at the same time, the natural fermenting process of the 80 types of organic produce started.

Most of the nutrients are decomposed to be easily absorbed into our bodies during this process.

The more drinking, the more delicious !

At first, you feel soft and fresh.

Next, you feel a deep, rich flavor from the 80 different types of ingredients fermented for one year.

And finally, Berrykle gives you a clean and clear taste, like a sparkling water.

For the pregnant, children and everyone.
