Risen pursue and development of world No. 1 premium high quality, nature friendly and eco-friendly cookware products to the market with our customer's satisfaction and health to realize the best value.

Risen has done research and development for a fry pan with new concept since 2002. We have kept trying to make the best products ever since we applied domestic & international patents for an innovative, dual-indirect heating technique in 2003. In 2005, domestic & international patent registrations were completed. Through years of research and experiments, Risen finally came to develop a high quality fry pan, FlowerPan, which is beyond comparison with any other fry pans. Customer satisfaction is Risen's top priority. With continuous research and development, we will keep the best quality of our products. We will continue to grow to be a leading enterprise that is worth the love and trust of customers.
