

The Seven Steps to a Great Tall Boot Fit

1. Establish the foot size of the brand you are trying.
2. Zippers can be broken at the bottom by stepping on them while getting into a boot that is too small for your foot. Your foot will pass over the zipper if the foot size is correct.
3. Slide your foot up into the toe of the boot, squishing your toes a bit. Be sure you can put a finger's width behind your heel before zipping the boot.
4. As you zip the boot for the first time, pull the zipper away from the calf as you zip it up.
5. If there is elastic along the side of the zipper, it may take a few times zipping the boot up and down to get it to start to stretch open easily.
6. If you can zip the boot successfully, now check to see if the height is correct. When standing, the top of the front of the boot should push up your knee caps.
7. When you squat in a jumping position, the boot should remain under your kneecap.