

History Through the Ages: Printable “Record of Time” Timeline Notebook Scope and Sequence

The printable Record of Time timeline notebook is a supplemental product provided in downloadable format and is designed to go along with the History Through the Ages Collection of Timeline Figures or the individual timeline sets. The Record of Time provides a printable version of the breakdown of dated pages to hold the timeline figures and a guide for where to place each figure. The purpose of creating a timeline is to visually reinforce where in history a person lived or an event took place. As a student studies each important person or event (from ancient, world, Biblical, American history, etc.) they add the corresponding figure to the timeline, creating a continuous flowing picture of events. Students also see who was alive at the same time at any given moment throughout the world, making connections that may be difficult to do as the history of different geographic areas and people are studied from one year to the next. The printable Record of Time is designed for families to be able to print off multiple copies at a more affordable price.
