Directions:

Add steeping grains to your water and allow to steep as the water comes to a boil. At 168° F, remove steeping grains and allow water to come to a boil. Once boiling, turn off flame. Stir in all Malt Extracts and ensure all is dissolved. Turn your flame back on. When it starts to boil again, begin your timer for a 60 minute boil. From there, follow directions for hop and clarifier additions. Cool your wort down to 70 - 80 degrees, transfer to your fermenter, and pitch yeast. Cover with airlock and allow 14 days at 65-70 degrees for fermentation to complete. Crash chill for 24-48 hours at 40 degrees, then transfer to keg. If bottling, transfer to bottling bucket and add 4 ounces of Dextrose sugar and allow to sit for 1 week at room temperature, then 1 week in the fridge before enjoying.

Style:

19B – California Common

A fantastic take on one of our favorite classics, this beer is loaded with a firm hop bitterness, courtesy of Northern Brewer hops, that accentuate the slightly malty, grainy flavors we love. This steam style beer is known worldwide to be one of the most refreshing and oldest American style beers.
