

Our encaustic tiles are handmade by a father and daughter team using natural colours and materials from an approved quarry that guarantees respect for the environment.

We deal directly with the owners of a handful of respected family-owned firms who, like us, always go the extra mile. All our products are Fair Trade.

"Eco-credentials and quality were at the forefront of every decision"

Bespoke
Spanish Tiles of Provenance and Quality

Alhambra collaborated with legendary artist Supermundane to create a unique tessellating pattern on an encaustic tile. The tiles fit together in many different ways to make a number of patterns.

Working with B3 Designers, we created a brand new colour for Levi Roots Caribbean Smokehouse and a logo tile (left).

"Alhambra was friendly and professional. You have a fabulous selection of patterns and choosing our own colours was great. We had our own mould made so we achieved something that the whole family loves, and at a very good price."

Martin Brudnizki Design Studio commissioned a bespoke tile for Pink Mamma in Paris (above).

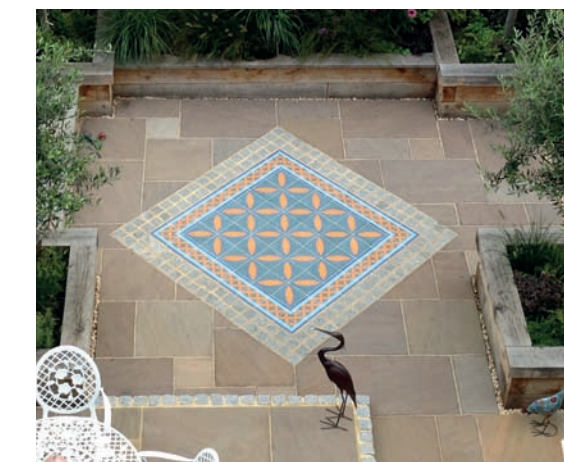

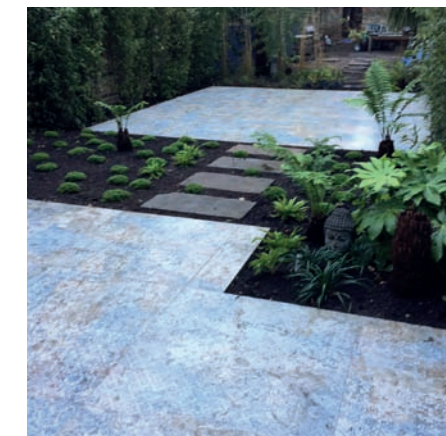

We have over 200 encaustic tile patterns to choose from, and we can also create bespoke patterns from your design.

We broke new ground when we created a giant diamond mould to make massive rhomboid flooring tiles for Ricker Restaurants' Stoke House in the Novo Building, London.

We don't just sell encaustic tiles. We have terracotta, porcelain, marble and more. Most are suitable for use outside. We have supplied terracotta to the Eden Project, and our cutting-edge porcelain is the favourite of many a garden designer.

The more traditional Granada Range is another popular choice, while our Gaudi Lattice Bricks are setting a new trend both indoors and out.

"The tiles still look as new. And that's after our winters, grandson's toys and the dog. Would thoroughly recommend. Our garden designer Chris Holland got another Gold Medal at RHS Chelsea flower show, so even more to be happy about!"
