LED THERAPY

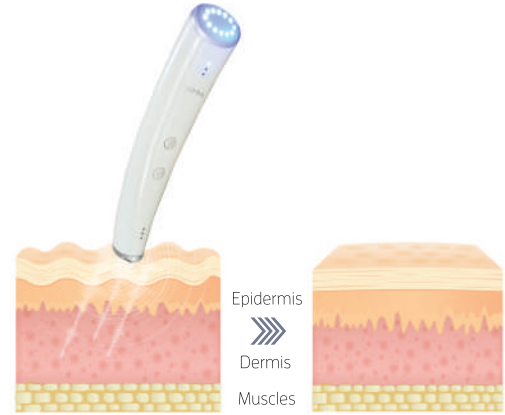

WHAT?

Red light therapy is a proven method of reducing fine lines and wrinkles, backed by many researches and clinical studies. In aesthetic applications, red light is often emitted through LEDs (light emitting diodes) which produce light energy with very little heat, providing a non-invasive, comfortable experience for the user.

MICRO CURRENT

WHAT?

With age, our natural current begins to slow down, leading to sagging skin and wrinkles. The micro-current therapy mimics the natural current and goes beyond skin deep to tone facial muscles to reduce fine lines and wrinkles.

REVIEWS

"I was skeptical about this device. There are so many false claims that you don't know what to purchase. But this is the real deal. The first week I used my Lumina nrg I could see a noticeable difference. The lines around my eyes and forehead had softened and the area above my eyes was firmer. I would highly recommend this to anyone."

Laura Felix

"I am 62 years old and have been using this for 60 days and I actually see the results. My skin is much tighter. I used it on my lower cheek and it looks amazing. In the beginning the microcurrent felt bit strong but as they promised you get used to the sting feeling. I now use it 3 times a week and it feels good. I am recommending this to all! I love it!"

Belinda Angel

"I have been using this for 4 weeks now and it feels amazing. I am using every day in the morning and evening when applying my creams and it feels amazing on my skin and I think its working. I use creams that I got from my dermatologist and even he said that using a device like this one will increase the effect of the creams and will help me to get the results that I want faster. I love it!!!!"
