PEARLESCENT MICA COLOURS - CHILD LABOUR DECLARATION

We have never and will never stock micas that have been the subject of child labour or animal testing.

The majority of our Pearlescent Pigments that we stock are manufactured for us in the EU, and the remaining pigments come from various global manufacturers who are all experts in their fields. None use child labour and all strive hard to meet fair employee standards in all their manufacturing facilities.

Our manufacturers do not purchase any products from trading companies or middle exporters, so they are very sure that they know the exact origin of everything they supply to us. They also do not source and have never sourced any products from India due to the extensive child labour problems over there.

Naturally Balmy Ltd operates on a zero tolerance level towards the exploitation of children, animals or people. We trust this information is helpful. Our commitment is to fully comply with all domestic and international regulatory requirements and to provide you, our valued customers, with the safest ethically sourced and highest quality pigments possible.
