PEARLESCENT MICA COLOURS

All our coloured micas are of the highest purity, are cosmetic grade, and suitable for use in all cosmetic products, including lip products. They are all, without exception, suitable for vegans and are cruelty free.

All the MSDS / TDS info is downloadable from the correlating description pages.

We have never and will never stock micas that have been the subject of child labour or animal testing.

Our micas are beautiful natural colours created by coating muscovite mica flakes with high resistant titanium dioxide / iron oxides and occasionally ultramarines (referred to as 'nature identical' or dyes). Muscovite is the most common mineral of the mica family. It is a rock-forming mineral present in igneous, metamorphic, and sedimentary rocks.

They must go through a complex manufacturing process to become the stunning colours you see here, then they must go through an extra process to refine and purify them even further so that they are suitable for cosmetic use. Cosmetic grade micas are most commonly used in mineral make-up such as mineral powders, eyeshadows, lip products, blushers etc. They can also be used in nail polish and are a great natural way to colour soaps. But their use doesn't end there; you can paint with them, make cards with them and decorate candles with them.

Some have high coverage, some are more 'sparkly'. This is due to the micron size. The higher the micron they have the more sparkle they will have and less coverage.
