Our Story

the miniware Journey

A Ma and Pa Design Story

Both passionate for design and family, Miniware is the creation of husband and wife design duo Adam and Ai Su Bonnier.

Upon the birth of their first child in 2013, both parents longed for a better eating solution for their little one, something functional, beautiful, all-natural and eco-friendly. Don't forget long lasting! They wanted a product that could evolve with their child's development. Finding the current options in children's dishware inadequate, together they created Miniware.

Miniware marries the industrial design and multicultural backgrounds of Adam and Ai Su's Swedish-Taiwanese partnership. The sleek modern style and serene color palette showcases food and the act of eating, an experience that transcends culture and geography.

Their shared passion for premium home décor, sustainability and a healthy family lifestyle drives the development of Miniware designs.

Bridging Boundaries with Form and Function

Miniware solves problems facing modern parents who wish to raise healthy, independent, self-feeders. The innovative design provides a secure, safe surface for feeding, while generous sizing helps little fingers and novice utensil users improve their dexterity. Calm, pleasing colors place the emphasis on eating and food, not distracting cartoon characters!

Remove the detachable suction base to advance with the child and offer a more “grown-up” experience.

All materials are natural and sustainable, with an emphasis on long-wear. All pieces are microwave- and dishwasher-safe!

Miniware incorporates natural, sustainable, long-lasting materials and beautiful design into a feeding solution for today’s parent and child.

REASONS TO LOVE MINIWARE

We created Miniware to address the challenges facing parents and babies during self-feeding training and to have a low-impact, environmentally-safe product that was good for the earth from creation through disposal. Our Miniware family of health-conscious, modern parents love our dishes and we know you will too.

1-2-3 SIP! CUP SET

The 1-2-3 Sip! is the only true training cup which helps a child advance all the way from sipping from a straw to mastering drinking from a real cup. Our Design allows children to practice all the complex movements without opening the valve all the way – it's like drinking with training wheels.

At first a child can sip from the silicone straw which is soft and feels good against gums and teeth. For when the little one is just getting started we even made the cup compatible with our suction foot to avoid major spills.

When your child is ready you can easily move on and remove the silicone straw. Now they can practice tilting and drinking from the lid. The non-drip lid and smaller spout helps control the flow until they get the hang of it.
