

The sky surrounded us whole as we lay on the cool desert sands.

We watched and wondered, while the stars stared back at us, smiling.

This continued all night, a quiet conversation, contemplative and promising.

#AStarlsBorn is a collection inspired by these moments and evenings spent in the deserts of Oman, where shooting stars dance across the cloudless sky, through constellations and past planets, where a little bit of that passing sparkle breaks through and lands in our memory and in our aspirations.

Let us celebrate the star in each of us.

WHY DO PEOPLE WISH UPON A SHOOTING STAR?

As far as the origin of this practice is concerned, legend has it that wishing upon a shooting star makes the wish come true. This belief dates back to around AD 127-151 when Greek astronomer Ptolemy wrote that occasionally, out of curiosity or even boredom, the Gods peer down at the earth from between the spheres.

ORION IS ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CONSTELLATIONS IN THE GALAXY!

Orion was given away as an infant by Zeus and Poseidon, and later transformed into a great hunter.

Later in his life, he fell in love with Artemis, the moon goddess.

Her brother, Apollo, did not approve of this and complained to Gaia. Gaia later sent Orion and Scorpius to a great battle and in the end both died. Zeus placed Orion in the winter sky and Scorpius in the summer sky so they cannot see each other and thus not be able to fight with one another ever again.

One of the most famous and easy to detect objects in the night's sky is Orion's Belt. Some say that the Egyptians built the pyramids at Giza to resemble the exact formation of Orion's Belt.

HERCULES IS ANOTHER ONE OF THE MOST BEAUTIFUL CONSTELLATIONS IN THE GALAXY!

Hercules is a constellation named after one of the most famous characters of all time; Hercules. He's best known as the Roman mythological hero adapted from the Greek hero Heracles, also a Disney character.

Historically, Hercules was termed as one of the 48 constellations listed by the 2nd century astronomer Ptolemy, and to date, it remains one of the 88 modern constellations. Additionally, it is the fifth largest of the modern constellations, fitting for a mythological character who is described as being larger than life.

ARIES

You can always count on an Aries to take charge of any situation. Their willingness to take initiative carries over in romantic situations too. They hate dating people with low energy or anyone who makes them feel like they're keeping them from reaching their full potential. If you're a non-Aries dating an Aries, you better be up to the challenge of keeping them entertained and interested, or you may lose them.

TAURUS

As an Earth sign, Taurus is one of the more reliable and stable signs in the zodiac. They're super grounded and usually into things for the long haul. This makes them really good at long-distance relationships especially, as it takes way more than distance to shake their confidence and sense of security.

GEMINI

While a Gemini may get a bad rap for being "two-faced," they're actually very loyal friends who are often faced with indecision because they want to take all sides into consideration. If you're a Gemini, keep in mind that any decision is often better than no decision, and if you're a friend of a Gemini, remember that they're probably trying their best.

CANCER

Cancers are very emotional creatures who are very in tune with those around them. Given the emphasis they place on interpersonal relationships, tiffs are never just tiffs. If you hurt a Cancer, be aware that they might not welcome you back into their lives with such open arms the second time around, if at all.

LEO

Leos are often dismissed as self-centered, but they're also one of the most loyal and devoted signs in the zodiac. You'll rarely meet a Leo unwilling to help their friends out, even if it makes them look bad or isn't the wisest financial move. But would you really expect anything less than that for the sign that's represented by the lion and ruled by the sun?

VIRGO

Detail-oriented and organized, a Virgo's intensity for work and life can be intimidating to others at first. If you're a Virgo, remember to take a step back and relax every so often. Sometimes the outcome will be the same regardless of if you put 10 seconds or 10 hours into a task.

LIBRA

A Libra never makes a decision willy-nilly. They always try to take as much into account as possible before making a choice, and their worst fear is being unfair or cruel to someone (even if they might deserve it.) If you're a Libra, try to remember that life isn't black-and-white, and it's OK to change your mind. If you're a friend of a Libra, try not to abuse their kindness and patience.

SCORPIO

Scorpios are known for the emotional intensity of their relationships. They never do something half-assed, and will know within seconds whether you'll get along or not. They'll never admit it because they have ~emotional walls~ and prefer to look aloof, but they're very loyal people.

SAGITTARIUS

While mostly known for their humor and wit, Sagittarians are also one of the most sensitive signs in the zodiac. They love deep discussions, and are some of the most genuine listeners and conversationalists you'll ever meet.

CAPRICORN

While Capricorns may seem all wise and responsible on the outside, they're often secretly fighting back tons of insecurity on the inside. While people in their lives might not be able to sense it (which is the goal of every cool, calm, and collected Capricorn,) it's never a bad idea to check in with people every once in a while and open up.

AQUARIANS

Aquarians may be very reserved and shy, or very loud and in-charge. While that might seem contradictory, the underlying trait of honesty (even if it's brutal) is a driving force behind all Aquarians. You can always rely on an Aquarius to tell it like it is and give you a straight answer, no matter how uncomfortable it may be at first.

PISCES

Uber-sensitive Pisces will often puts others' needs first — sometimes to such an extent they'll neglect their own. If you're a Pisces, watch out for this and make sure you're not letting people take advantage of you. And if you're a friend of Pisces, keep an eye out and make sure you're not abusing your Piscean friend's sensitivity and devotion.
