Complete serving-by-weight chart available at PetClubPCR.com

Start at the lowest serving size for your pet based on their weight range. If after 7-10 days you are not seeing the results you are looking for, you can increase to the Medium serving. If that still is not sufficient to create the desired results, then increase to the High serving. Larger pets can more easily move to the higher serving in their weight range. For very small pets, we recommend staying close to the lowest serving size.
