

WOOLLY BUGGER

TIED BY: Lorie Hagen

This is one of the most popular streamers in use today. The Woolly Buzzer is used to imitate: leeches, baitfish, tadpoles, damsel fly larvae, dragonfly larvae, crayfish and many others. This is a versatile fly that can be used for a large variety of food sources and is a must have in any fly box. It can be tied in almost every conceivable color combination. Use this fly to catch trout, large and small mouth bass, panfish, carp, steelhead, salmon, stripers and many more!

MATERIALS NEEDED:

- HOOK | 700 Streamer | Sz 2-14
- THREAD | UNI | Brown | 6/0
- TAIL | Marbou | Black
- BODY | Mohair Plus | Black
- HEAD | Angel Hair | Black
- VICE | Hagen's Deluxe Stainless Steel Vice
- BOBBIN | Rite Bobbin | Half Hitch Mag
- DELUXE DUBBING TWISTER
- DUBBING SPIN FINGER MOISTENER

The material used to recreate this can be found at: www.unexcelledfishing.com

« Step 1

Position your thread at the rear of the hook, above the barb. Take a Marabou feather and strip it so you have 1 to 1 1/2 shank lengths for the tail. Tie in on top of the hook and wrap forward over stem. Return thread to rearmost wrap.

« Step 2

Make a loop with your dubbing twister and wrap thread forward. Moisten fingers and apply mohair into the dubbing loop. Twist and wrap onto the hook. You will need to repeat this step until you are close to the eye of the hook. Make sure to leave enough room for the head.

« Step 3

Cut a small amount of angel hair and tie in backwards with the long tip pointing to the eye of the hook. Repeat until you have went around the hook about 3 times. Fold the long tips back toward the hook bend and tie down. Tie off with a couple of half hitch and trim angel hair to desired length and get ready to catch some fish!
