horseshoes

Feeling lucky? tenalach Horseshoes will be the judge of that. Forget about building a horseshoe pit though, these spiral stakes screw firmly into the ground. All that's missing are your ringers.

The object of Horseshoes is to pitch (throw) your horseshoe so that it lands around the stake.

Horseshoes can be played outdoors on a flat and clear sand or soil surface. Place the two steel stakes 40' (12m) apart. Adjust distance based on space and how challenging you would like the game to be.

CONTENTS

4 steel horseshoes

2 steel corkscrew stakes including turning handle and rod

1 instruction booklet

1 premium canvas and leather case

Please carefully inspect your new Horseshoes set to ensure all parts listed are included.

PLAYERS

Two players: one player per team, two horseshoes per player

Four players: two players per team, one horseshoe per player

ASSEMBLY

1. Screw steel rod into rod base.
2. Insert handle in opening above the base of the steel rod.
3. Align corkscrew above ground.*
4. Begin turning stake clockwise until rod base sits on top of the ground.
5. Remove handle and store in canvas case.

To remove stake from ground for storage, insert handle and turn stake counter clockwise.

* Watch where you dig! Please be aware of underground lines and pipes before screwing in your stake.

GAMEPLAY

Horseshoes consists of several innings. 4 horseshoes are pitched in each inning.

1. Determine who goes first by pitching a horseshoe each. The Player or Team with the horseshoe closest to the stake goes first.
2. Each player stands beside a stake (the pitch area) and pitches their two horseshoes, alternating with the other team.
3. After all horseshoes have been pitched, add how many points each team has earned for that inning. The winner of the inning pitches first for the next round.

First team to score 40 points or higher wins.

SCORING

3 Points

Ringer - a shoe comes to rest encircling the stake

2 Points

Leaner - a shoe comes to rest touching or leaning on the stake

1 Point

Shoe in Count - a shoe comes to rest within one horseshoe length of the stake

0 Points

Shoe Out of Count - a shoe that comes to a rest further than one horseshoe of the stake

Only one team can be awarded points after every inning.

Ringers cancel each other out. If both teams pitch a Ringer, neither team scores any points.

If both teams pitch shoes that land the same distance from the stake, neither team scores any points.

TREAT WITH CARE

tenalach Horseshoes were thoughtfully designed to last for generations to come. Help the fun time last for years. Do not use game components for anything other than their intended purpose. Use a damp cloth to spot clean case, horseshoes, or stake if necessary. Store in a cool, dry area and never leave outside for an extended period of time. Be sure that components are completely dry before storing in its case.
