"THE IDEA OF SMALLER CLASSES HELPED WITH MY ANXIETY AND I KNEW I WAS GOING TO BE OK - I ACTUALLY ENJOY THE THEORY TOO!"

"My dream role is to be a MUA for the stars"

By the time Jordan graduated from University with a Fashion Degree, he had already developed a passion for make-up. Using himself as his model, he found that his love for applying make-up far outweighed his clothing interests.

Whilst showcasing with University in London, he found himself wanting to be working in the make-up section, rather than the wardrobe section, and the seed was planted for once he graduated.

Having had to take some time out to focus on some challenges in his personal life, Jordan found solace in make-up and would practice at home. During his time at University make-up provided him with an escape, and eventually, it was time to put his skills to use.

"I had been looking for somewhere to study for a while and found Foundations online. After a short call with Julie, I was invited in for a chat. As I had studied before and love make-up, I knew it was right for me. The smaller class sizes also reassured me that I was going to be OK studying there. I got on well with Julie from that first chat. I love being at Foundations, I wish it was more than once a week. I have made friends, and it's good because we are all adults. I feel different from being there. My tutor Mel, and Julie, are aware that I have been struggling in my personal life, having lost someone special, and they care how I am. They make sure that I am OK, and we get on like friends rather than the teacher-student relationship you would get in a school. I feel a purpose with them. They are so welcoming to me and their support is endless both personally and academically."
