What is Shopify Shipping?

Shopify Shipping provides US and Canadian merchants pre-negotiated shipping rates with premium shipping carriers. Shopify merchants can use the rates to buy and print their shipping labels in the Shopify Admin and show to their customers at checkout.

Shipping can be a complicated part of a merchant's business. Making that first sale and preparing the shipment should be an exciting time for a merchant. However for many new businesses, managing shipping settings and rates can be confusing and overwhelming.

Shopify has done the work for our merchants, and has negotiated exclusive shipping rates with premium shipping carriers: USPS, UPS, DHL Express, and Canada Post. This means that Shopify merchants automatically qualify for these rates and don't need to open their own carrier accounts or pay to use a third party shipping app.

“Being able to stay within Shopify when preparing orders for shipment is both a huge convenience and a time saver. There’s also very little margin for human error with purchasing labels through Shopify—you can view photos of which items are in the order, assign the appropriate box size, and see exactly how much money you’re saving on shipping thanks to the Shopify plan discount!”

Why Shopify Shipping?

Shopify Shipping includes features to help ease the process of getting products into the hands of their customers.

No subscription fees or surprise costs

Your clients won't need to pay a per label fee in addition to the label cost or be on the hook for extra monthly subscription fees. They can ship as much as they want and only get billed on their monthly Shopify invoice.

Better rates than the post office

US merchants save up to 41 percent on USPS shipping labels, up to 55 percent on UPS labels, and up to 74 percent on DHL Express labels. Canadian merchants save up to 40 percent on Canada Post rates. Those savings increase based on Shopify plan.

Shipment tracking

When your clients purchase shipping labels from Shopify, their customers will automatically receive real-time updates and shipment tracking.

Bulk orders

Merchants can prepare multiple orders at once with bulk order fulfillment and label printing.

Easy printing

Merchants can print labels directly from their phone or computer using a thermal label printer or home desktop printer.

Shopify Shipping allows your clients to easily plan and adjust their shipping strategy as their businesses grow. A key decision for merchants, when planning their shipping strategy, is deciding how much to charge their customers for shipping. Three common options are free shipping, charge exact shipping costs, and flat rate shipping.

When pitching Shopify Shipping to clients, here are a few features you'll want to keep in mind:

Best rates and services from trusted carriers

Merchants get the best shipping rates automatically when using Shopify Shipping while also saving time and money. No extra costs.

Manage shipments in one place

Merchants can count on Shopify to manage every part of their orders, down to the smallest details.

Skip the line at the post office

Merchants can prepare their shipments in advance, then skip the line and drop them off at the post office. Or they can schedule package pickups with carriers like UPS and DHL Express.

Who qualifies for Shopify Shipping?

Shopify Shipping is a great solution for merchants who fit the following specifications:

- They ship less than 100 packages per day
- They're shipping their products themselves, rather than dropshipping them
- They're shipping out of the U.S. or Canada

Your clients are a good fit for Shopify Shipping if they've identified any of the following:

- Cheapest solution: They believe every bit of savings counts
- Simplicity: Business owners wear many hats, they want shipping to be as easy as possible
- Batch label printing: They'd like to save time processing multiple orders at once
- Guaranteed delivery: They need to trust that packages will arrive at a specific date and time
- International shipping: They're looking for guidance on how to sell and ship internationally

Once you've identified clients with those needs, you can formulate your pitch using the benefits and features we outlined above.

How to set up Shopify Shipping

Before your clients can start using Shopify Shipping, they will need to provide you with some details around their shipping vision. Different options are available, and your clients' strategies will change over time as their stores grow.

One of the first decisions they'll need to make is deciding how much to charge for shipping.

We gathered common starting points for shipping:

- I want to offer free shipping
- I'd like to charge my customer the exact shipping costs
- I want to set up flat rate shipping

Once they have a clearer idea of their shipping strategy, they'll need to start adding some essential information about their business in their Shopify Admin. Below is a walkthrough of how to set up Shopify Shipping for a client.

Setting up Shopify Shipping

1. ADD THE SHIPPING ORIGIN

From the admin, click Settings, and then click Shipping. In the Shipping origin section, click Edit address. This address will allow Shopify to calculate where the shipments are originating from.

2. UPDATE SHIPPING ZONES

The regions and countries that your clients ship to are known as shipping zones. Each shipping zone includes rates that apply to customers with addresses within that zone. Learn more in our shipping zones documentation.

3. CHOOSE A DEFAULT PACKAGE

Shipping rates are determined by the distance between the to/from addresses, the package weight, and the package dimensions. We recommend setting a default package (the client's most commonly used package type and size) to help ensure shipping rates shown at checkout are more accurate.

From your Shopify Admin, go to Settings > Shipping. In the Packages section, click Add package:

A dialogue box will need the required information about the package type. Comprehensive instructions are available on fulfilling and packaging an order.

4. BUY AND PRINT SHIPPING LABELS

There are a few steps involved in buying and printing postage (shipping labels) for your clients' shipments:

	Buy a shipping label in your Shopify admin or the Shopify app. You can do this from an order's Fulfillment page.
	Download and print the shipping label. You can use a desktop printer, or a supported label printer.
	Add the label to the outside of your package. If you aren't using sticky labels, then you can use tape or a packing sleeve.

Buy shipping labels

Help your clients choose the label printer they want to use to buy and print their labels. They can do this on the Shipping Settings page in their Shopify Admin or the Shopify app. For best results, we recommend that they use Shopify-supported hardware to print their shipping labels.

Visit the detailed explanation on buying shipping labels including formatting labels and print test labels.

Download and print shipping labels

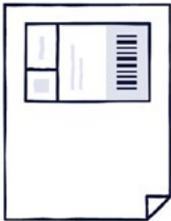

In the Shipping Labels section, select the label format that matches the printer your client wants to use when printing their shipping labels. We recommend the DYMO® 4XL or the Brother label printer for mobile printing.

Label format Print test label

Shopify Shipping gives you discounted prices on labels from USPS, DHL Express or UPS®.

8.5 × 11 inch paper for desktop printers

4 × 6 inch label for label printers (DYMO or similar)

SHIPPING LABEL PROVIDERS

Get labels, a printer, or a scale at the Shopify hardware store.

For clients that are just starting out, investing in a label printer may not be an option. In that case, shipping labels can be printed on a desktop printer on standard 8.5" x 11" paper. For a cleaner look, they can purchase a pack of peel-off Shopify Shipping Labels from our Hardware Store to get professional-looking labels from their home printer.
